FlightWorks Hosts Chamber of Commerce Open House Prince William Regional Chamber of Commerce, Virginia

KENNESAW, GEORGIA — July 24, 2008 —FlightWorks hosted the Prince William Regional Chamber of Commerce's Open House at FlightWorks executive hangar facilities located at Manassas Regional Airport, Manassas, Virginia on Thursday, July 10, 2008. The event was attended by over 100 business professionals and featured a tour of business jets, including a Falcon 2000, Gulfstream II, Hawker 800A, Falcon 10, King Air 300, Eurocopter and Client Reception and hangar facilities. Hot and cold hors d'oeuvres and a dessert buffet were presented by award-winning Rudy's In-flight Catering. Tarara Winery offered a wine tasting featuring their Reserve Estate Wines and George Mason University's Jazz Trio infused the hangar with the rich rhythms of jazz.

Prince William Chamber is the third largest Chamber in the DC Metro area; the Chamber develops the Open House events in conjunction with its members for business networking opportunities. Open House attendees were pleased to discover FlightWorks fleet diversity and service range. Private jet utilization is not just for the wealthy; local businesses discovered that air charter is one of the best ways to maximize time and 'get a jump' on competitors.

Jo Ann Bell, Chairman of the Board for the Prince William Chamber provided the Welcome address, opening comments and introduced James Lara, president of FlightWorks. "Time is the only non-renewable resource, and we're here to help you maximize the 24 hours you have to work with... private charter eliminates the wait times at commercial
